Advertisements in *Very Light

Members are reminded that they can place advertisements in Very Light if they have items for sale.

There isn't any charge but people offering registerable firearms are reminded that the transaction must be carried out through a licensed dealer. We suggest that for security purposes anyone wishing to advertise items for sale should keep their contact details brief such as just first name and land line or mobile number.

If you are seeking a particular item, then you may also run an advertisement free of charge. Again, we suggest for security that you restrict the contact detail to your name, landline or mobile number or an email address.

If you want to run an advertisement please contact the Secretary by telephone on 9584 2907, or by email at – cupfire1@ozemail.com.au

Request for Members' Email Addresses

The Guild is attempting to provide direct notification of the latest issues of Very Light and any other news that might be of interest to collectors. If you wish to make use of this facility, then please send us your email addresses.

It is quite simple to subscribe to this service just send your name and current membership number by email to info@armscollectorsguild.com . We will place your email address on our list, and you will get direct notification in your email.

This additional service will not replace the current system of posting the latest issues and news on the Guild's website nor the regular mail out of printed material to those without internet access.

The Guild is also planning a major update of the website to bring it into line with current practice.

The Guild commenced this initiative to obtain members' email addresses some time ago, but response has been very limited which is disappointing. In fact, the number of people who still receive Very Light in hard copy exceeds those who receive it by email.

In accordance with the Guild Committee's desire to extend the direct email of Very Light to our members, one of our committee members John Accardo 0417 577 773 will progressively contact by phone Guild members who haven't provided an email contact to ask if they would like to be included on the list.

A Notice from the President

The Guild is a large club whose members we sincerely hope are not just random purchasers of guns but people who are genuinely interested in the history of firearms and weapons.

Every month at Eley Park we have a meeting for our members to gather, to exchange information, to discuss their collecting interest and, most importantly, to take the opportunity to display items from their collections which would be of interest to other like-minded arms collectors. That is what makes us a club rather than just a group of strangers thrown together by the requirements of the Firearms Act.

Yet month after month we see the same few stalwart members (less than 1% of our membership) presenting displays.

When you think about it this is pretty depressing. Less than 1% of our members are willing to share with other club members interesting items from their collections. The committee tries to identify broad themes so that members don't feel excluded. We offer modest prizes as incentives and we actively encourage people to bring items even if they don't fall within a night's display theme.

The Guild, your club, simply cannot survive as a club if our members don't take part in its activities. We understand that many members who live in the country are prevented from regular attendance by distance, but more than half our membership live in the Melbourne metropolitan area. That is still a pretty large group.

As President of the Guild I am asking you, my fellow members, to help build club spirit. Take the time to attend a club meeting or two, put on a display and come along and meet your fellow club members.
